

Unit 8 House Vocabulary and Prepositions Assessment - The House Painter

1. In the blank spaces _____, fill with the correct house vocabulary you hear. 2. Underline 5 different prepositions in the passage. 3. Use the information in the 3rd paragraph to label the floor plan of the inside of the neighbor's house.

1. There was once a man who went out to look for a job. As he was passing his neighbor's house, he saw that the house needed painting. "Maybe I can get a job painting my neighbor's house," he thought.

He walked up the _____ and stopped and looked at the outside of the house. He shook his head. The house really needed painting. The front of the house had four big _____ and a huge front _____. The white paint was dirty and cracked. The _____ of the house were made of bricks. The _____ was made of shingles. Mr. Jones could see a large _____ at the back of the house. He walked around to the back _____. There was a _____ that was not attached to the house. It needed painting too.

2. Mr. Jones walked back to the front of the house and walked up the shaky wooden _____; they made loud squeaky noises. He knocked on the door. The door opened and a little old man opened the door. "Yes, what can I do for you?" asked the man in a rough and cracking voice. Mr. Jones said, "I am looking for work, and I am a painter. I can paint your house for a good price." "How much will it cost?" asked his neighbor? If you give me a good price, I will let you paint the inside of my house too." "That will be great!" said Mr. Jones, "but first, I will have to see the inside of your house." "Come in," said his neighbor.

3. When Mr. Jones walked in, he was standing in a _____ facing the _____. The _____ was across from the living room and the _____ was next to the dining room. As he walked down the hall, there was a _____ on each side of the hall. At the end of the hall on the right side there was a _____. The largest room was the living room. The two bedrooms were the same size and a little smaller than the living room. The bedrooms had door and two windows in each. The inside rooms needed painting just as much as the outside of the house. "Wow," said Mr. Jones. "There is a lot of work here for me to do. It will cost a thousand dollars for me to paint both the outside and the inside." "What!!" said his neighbor, "I don't want to pay for a new house; I only want you to paint it!"

Name _____ Date _____

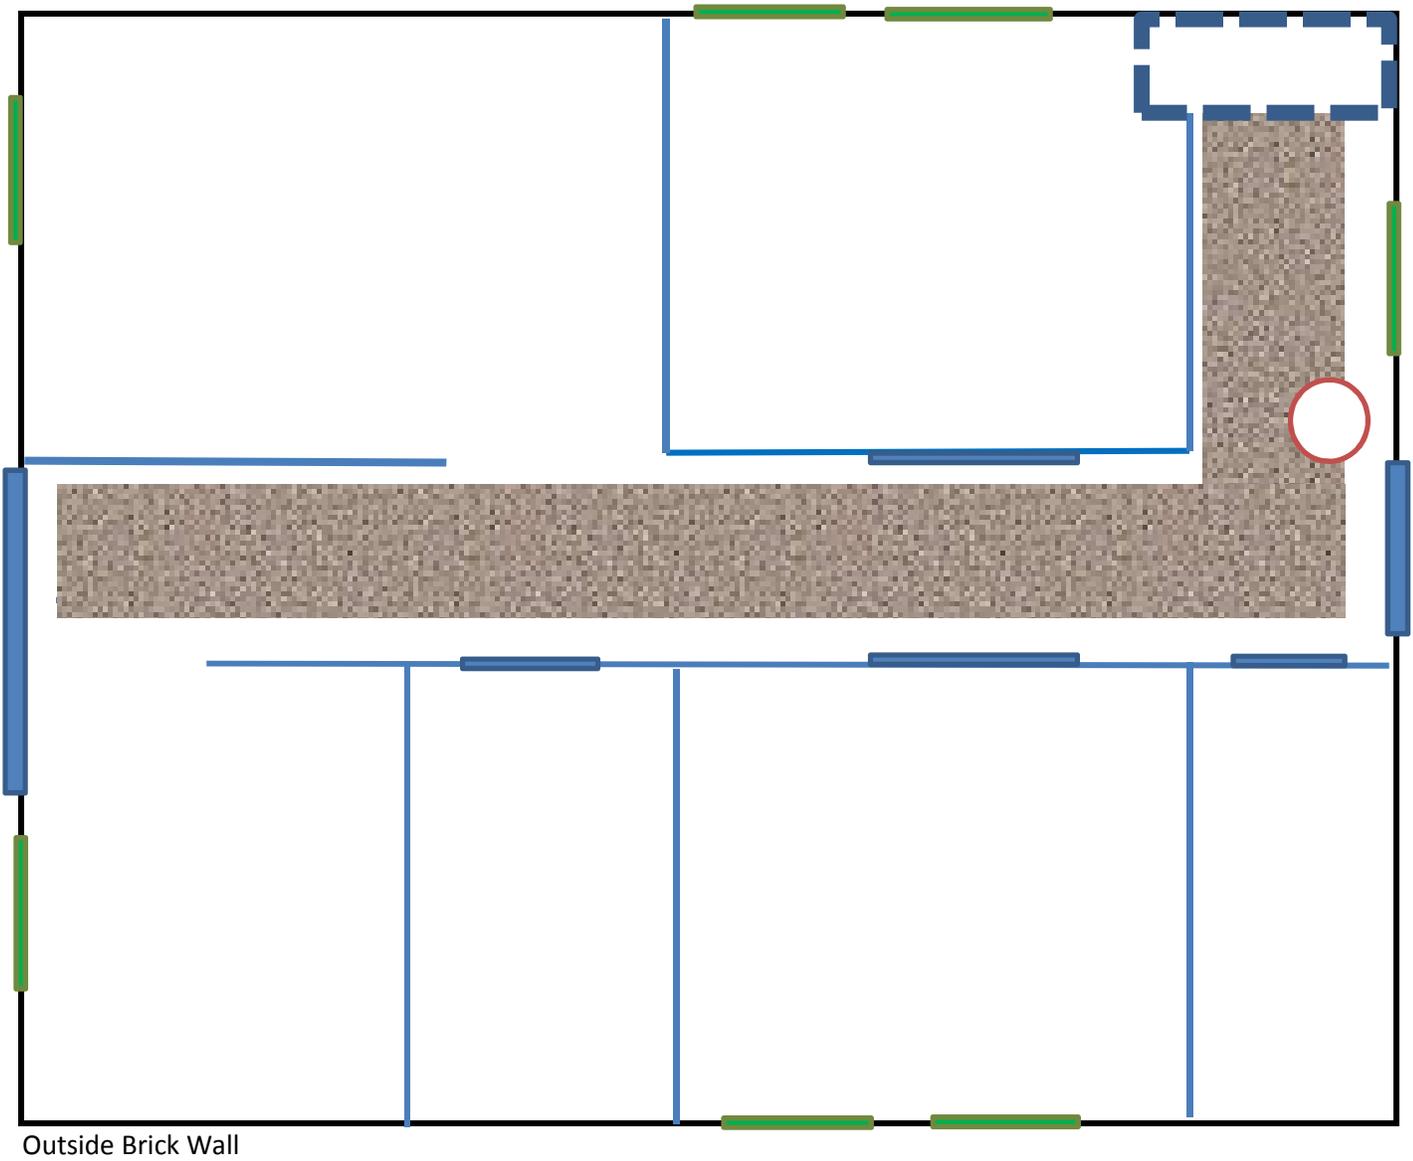

Unit 8 House Vocabulary and Prepositions Assessment - The House Painter

MASTER

There was once a man who went out to look for a job. As he was passing his neighbor's house, he saw that the house needed painting. "Maybe I can get a job painting my neighbor's house," he thought.

He did not want to walk on the lawn, so he walked up the sidewalk and stopped and looked at the outside of the house. He shook his head. The house really needed painting. The front of the house had four big windows and a huge front door. The white paint was dirty and cracked. The walls of the house were made of bricks. The roof was made of shingles. Mr. Jones could see a large chimney at the back of the house. He walked around to the back yard. There was a garage that was not attached to the house. It needed painting too.

Mr. Jones walked back to the front of the house and walked up the shaky wooden steps; they made loud squeaky noises. He knocked on the door. The door opened and a little old man opened the door. "Yes, what can I do for you?" asked the man in a rough and cracking voice. Mr. Jones said, "I am looking for work, and I am a painter. I can paint your house for a good price." "How much will it cost?" asked his neighbor? "If you give me a good price, I will let you paint the inside of my house too." "That will be great!" said Mr. Jones, "but first, I will have to see the inside of your house." "Come in," said his neighbor. When Mr. Jones walked in, he was standing in a hallway facing the living room. The dining room was across from the living room and the kitchen was next to the dining room. As he walked down the hall, there was a bedroom on each side of the hall. At the end of the hall on the right side there was a bathroom. The largest room was the living room. The two bedrooms were the same size and a little smaller than the living room. The bedrooms had door and two windows in each. The inside rooms needed painting just as much as the outside of the house. "Wow, said Mr. Jones. There is a lot of work here for me to do. It will cost a thousand dollars for me to paint both the outside and the inside." "What!!" said his neighbor, "I don't want to pay for a new house; I only want you to paint it!"

Outside Brick Wall